A Message from the General Manager

Celebrating Women's History in Our 50th Year

It is fitting that Fred Rogers adorns this month's cover. His national program debuted 50 years ago, and on March 25, 1968, Channel 10 signed on as Nevada's first educational television station. Fifty years is a long time, and with the support of our viewers, Vegas PBS has transitioned from film, to video tape to digital recording; and from single channel analog black and white, monaural broadcasting to digital high definition, 5.1 surround sound color broadcasting, cable casting and internet streaming. We will celebrate in many ways in the next 12 months, but we want to thank our donors for their steadfast support over the decades.

This year our governing boards are led by women, and our major donor society is named for Charlotte Hill, who founded the Friends of Channel 10 to increase community support for our educational, cultural and public affairs programming. Thus, we kick off our 50th anniversary celebrations during Women's History Month by presenting programs that highlight the vital contributions of women across the globe and examine the important ways they have influenced our history and are shaping our future.

Two featured documentaries share stories of remarkable women who were often overshadowed by their charismatic husbands. Anne Morrow Lindbergh: You'll Have the Sky uses Anne's own words to help convey the inner life of the acclaimed author and the challenges of being part of America's most famous couple. In Untold Stories: Mina Miller Edison, the Wizard's Wife, diaries and personal letters reveal Mina's accomplishments and struggles, the lasting impact of her charity work, and her influence on her husband and his inventions.

Other films tell the history of extraordinary women who shaped our country. Dolores Huerta co-founded the first farmworkers union with César Chávez and led the fight for racial and labor justice. Peter Bratt's film, Dolores, is presented by Independent Lens. We will host a special screening of the documentary on Thursday, March 15 at 6 p.m. at Springs Preserve. Details are at VegasPBS.org/indie. We are also pleased to sponsor the Nevada Women's Film Festival's screening of Dolores at Eclipse Theaters on Sunday, March 25. Visit nwffest.com for those details.

Another American legend, Wilma Mankiller, overcame rampant sexism and personal challenges to become the Cherokee Nation's first woman Principal Chief in 1985. Mankiller reveals how she fought injustice and gave voice to the voiceless. Women Outward Bound chronicles the experiences of the first group of young women to participate in the survival school course, and reveals the lessons they learned during their one month in the woods that eventually changed the course of history.

In addition to these powerful new programs, we will rebroadcast MAKERS, a national documentary series featuring groundbreaking American women in different spheres of influence. We will also air two local productions about Southern Nevada influencers. MAKERS: Women in Nevada History, a co-production with UNLV, showcases women who shaped Clark County from a vast desert populated by small towns and few residents into the world-famous and unique destination it is today. Finally, Women in Gaming, recorded live at the Mob Museum, highlights the role women played in the gaming industry throughout the state of Nevada.

Thank you for your crucial financial support of public service media for 50 years. Your support allows us to partner with our university, museums, film festivals and others to produce and broadcast historical documentaries like those featured during Women's History Month. As Fred Rogers would surely say... "Thank you all for encouraging us, allowing us, all these years to be your neighbor."

Remembering Vietnam: Las Vegas Veterans

Thursday, March 29 at 8 p.m.

Soldiers waiting for assistance

This new local documentary explores the experiences of several Las Vegas veterans during the Vietnam War era. Their stories cover their enlistment, basic training, combat and the aftermath of their military experience.

When we first approached the local Vietnam veterans about sharing their stories, many of the veterans didn't want to talk about it. Some of them insisted that they have put the war behind them and want to keep it there. For many vets, war is not a topic they wanted to share with their wives or children. That is why so many veterans have found it easier to pretend they never served. Consequently, people are often shocked to find out after many years that neighbors, friends and coworkers are Vietnam veterans.

The truth is that they think about the war every day, still trying to figure it out. But the memories are indeed painful: of friends lost, of lives changed, of endless fear and stress, the guilt of surviving, the reception received when they came home, accusations that they lost their war, anger over the way the war was fought and things they were asked to do. For some of the veterans, attempts to tell their stories have gone badly. Listen now as they finally share their experiences.

“...many of the veterans didn't want to talk about it.”

NOVA: Prediction by the Numbers

Wednesday, February 28 at 9 p.m.

Predictions underlie nearly every aspect of our lives, from sports, politics and medical decisions to the morning commute. With the explosion of digital technology, the internet and “big data,” the science of forecasting is flourishing. But why do some predictions succeed spectacularly while others fail abysmally? In a fascinating, fast-paced investigation, this special takes viewers from the glitz of casinos and TV game shows to the life-and-death stakes of storm forecasts and the flaws of opinion polls that can swing an election. It explores compelling success stories of statistics in action: how baseball legend Billy Beane developed the recruiting techniques made famous by “Moneyball” to transform the fortunes of major league teams. But how far can we really forecast how our future world will turn out?

Jimmy Buffet: Buried Treasure

Saturday, March 10 at 11 p.m.

When legendary Nashville producer Buzz Cason sold his recording studio to John and Martina McBride, there was some cleaning up to do. That is when Jimmy learned that they had found a sizeable collection of tapes. It turned out that there were over 125 songs in that pile of tape boxes, a unique collection of acoustic songs that Jimmy wrote and recorded in the early days of his career, but then were lost for many years. Now in this special concert, enjoy the easy, laid-back style of Jimmy Buffet as he performs some of these “buried treasures” from his early years.

Joe Bonamassa: British Blues Explosion Live

Monday, March 5 at 10:30 p.m.

Joe Bonamassa has established himself as a master guitarist and one of the leading blues rock stars of his generation. He has been more influenced by the impact of British Blues than by any other music out there. In an unforgettable new concert, he pays homage to this music that so moved and inspired him since he was a kid, performing an evening of special tribute to the music of three of the field's greatest heavyweights, Eric Clapton, Jeff Beck and Jimmy Page. From start to end, the performance is hypnotizing as he flawlessly flies over the fret board nailing every note of each classic masterpiece.

Based on the beloved Louisa May Alcott novel, the story is cherished by generations of women worldwide. A truly universal coming of age story, it is set against the backdrop of the Civil War and follows sisters Jo, Meg, Beth and Amy March on their journey from childhood to adulthood. The cast will feature Angela Lansbury as the cantankerous Aunt March as well as Emily Watson, Maya Hawke, Willa Fitzgerald, Annes Elwy, Kathryn Newton, Michael Gambon and Jonah Hauer-King.

THIS WEEK'S PICKS

Rise and Fall of the Brown Buffalo

Friday, March 23 at 9 p.m.

This is a fresh and genre-defying film about the life of radical Chicano lawyer, author and countercultural icon Oscar Zeta Acosta — the basis for the character Dr. Gonzo in Fear and Loathing in Las Vegas, written by legendary journalist-provocateur Hunter S. Thompson. Acosta's powerful literary voice, brash courtroom style and notorious revolutionary antics made him a revered figure within the Chicano movement of the 1960s and 70s, and offered one of the most brazen assaults on the status quo and white supremacy seen at the time. Phillip Rodriguez brings Acosta to life by employing a cinematic style as unorthodox as his subject: weaving archival footage and images with dramatized portrayals of Acosta, Thompson and other key figures and moments of the era.

Happy Valley

Saturdays at 10 p.m. beginning March 24

Sarah Lancashire stars as Catherine Cawood, a police sergeant in a small town where drunkards, drug addicts and teenage pregnancies are a way of life. Her world is turned upside down when the man she thinks is responsible for her daughter's death - Tommy Lee Royce - is released from prison. Meanwhile, quiet middle-class accountant Kevin Weatherill feels underappreciated and underpaid at work. Desperate to give his daughters a decent education, he asks for a pay rise so he can send them to private school. But when his wealthy boss Nevison refuses, something finally snaps for Kevin and he enlists the help of local drug lord Ashley to kidnap Nevison's daughter and hold her for ransom. Things quickly spiral out of control when Ashley involves Tommy Lee in the plan. How far will any of them go to get what they really want?

Dolores Huerta press conference (1975)

Independent Lens: Dolores

Tuesday, March 27 at 9 p.m.

One of the most important, yet least known activists of our time, Dolores Huerta was an equal partner in founding the first farm workers union with César Chávez. She has evolved into one of the most defiant feminists of the 20th century — and she continues the fight to this day, at 87. With unprecedented access to this intensely private mother of 11, this special chronicles Huerta's life from her childhood in Stockton to her early years with the United Farm Workers, from her work with the headline-making grape boycott launched in 1965 to her role in the feminist movement of the 70s to her continued work as a fearless activist. It is an inspiring portrait of an indomitable woman willing to accept the personal sacrifices involved in committing one's life to social change.

Into the Night: Portraits of Life and Death

Monday, March 26 at 9 p.m.

Death comes to us all. Do we depart with equanimity or with anger? Or do we see death as something to be fought and even possibly conquered? Finally, what are the stories we tell ourselves? This two-hour documentary features fascinating, unexpected voices from various walks of life. Learn how an astrophysicist, preacher, philosopher and artisanal mortician grapple with universal questions of mortality. Weaving science, cryonics, near-death stories and green burials, this film invites us to rethink our place in the universe. This program is followed by Passing On at 11 p.m. Will your dying wishes be honored? This special explores end-of-life through a series of compelling and sensitive stories that will engage you emotionally and provide you with valuable information.

Rick Steves Europe: Switzerland's Great Cities: Luzern, Bern, Zurich and Lausanne

Sunday, March 4 at 3:30 p.m.

Focusing on Switzerland's often-overlooked urban charms, this special explores lakeside Luzern, cobbled Bern, spire-filled Zürich and sophisticated Lausanne. We'll enjoy eye-opening art, from Chagall and Klee to the works of asylum inmates. We'll ring a very big bell high up in a church spire, float down a rushing river and ponder Switzerland's pragmatic drug policies and hidden underground arsenals. And it's all before a backdrop of stun-

Call the Midwife

Season 6 Marathon

Sunday, March 25 from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m.

It's time to get ready for the brand new Season 7 with a marathon viewing of Season 6! Spend the day with the nuns of Nonnatus House, living and working in 1962. It is evident how times are changing, from increased liberation for women to the shadow of infamous gangsters to the introduction of new government policies. Sister Julienne finds herself demoted and working alongside the midwives as an ordinary member of the staff, and she is not the only one to face challenges closer to home. As they strive to help mothers and families cope with the demands of childbearing, disability, disease and social prejudice, the beloved medics must make choices – and fight battles – of their own.

America's Test Kitchen from Cook's Illustrated Thursdays at 8:30 p.m.

Enjoy an all-new Season 18 of this popular cooking series (episodes from Season 17 will air on Mondays and Saturdays at 8:30 p.m.). Hosts Bridget Lancaster and Julia Collin Davison bring equipment reviews and taste tests as they deconstruct recipes, revealing the test kitchen's secrets to fool-proof cooking at home. Independent Lens: Rat Film

Monday, March 5 at 6 p.m.

This critically-acclaimed film uses the rat to burrow into the dark, complicated history of Baltimore. It explores how racial segregation, discriminatory lending practices known as “redlining” and environmental racism built the Baltimore that exists today. In Baltimore, just as in many other urban areas, rats are part of the daily lives of residents. Some have learned to live with them, domesticating rats as pets. Others hunt them for sport, using blowguns and fishing rods. What begins as an examination of our interactions with rats becomes an investigation into the history of the city, and the systemic racism that established the low-income and predominantly black neighborhoods that are still plagued by rats today. In one of the film’s most shocking sequences, 2015 Baltimore city statistics are superimposed over old redlining maps, exposing a haunting correlation to present-day urban issues and the neighborhoods formed decades ago.

The Powder & the Glory

Sunday, March 4 at 10 p.m.

This fascinating special tells the story of the rival business empires of Elizabeth Arden and Helena Rubinstein. When they first opened their shops 100 years ago, cosmetics were worn primarily by prostitutes and performers, and businesses were run mostly by men. These two indomitable immigrants changed all that and transformed the way we look at ourselves. Starting from nothing in one of the few fields open to them, these creative women pioneered what is today the $150 billion global health and beauty industry. Fierce rivals, they lived and worked only blocks apart in New York for over 50 years, but by design they never met. Their competing companies defined the business of beauty, making cosmetics both newly respectable and, finally, indispensable.

Nero Wolfe

Sundays at 6 p.m.

Nero Wolfe (Francesco Pannofino) may be one of Rome’s finest investigators, but he’d rather tend to his orchids. Newly transplanted from the U.S., detective Nero Wolfe and his right-hand man, Archie Goodwin (Pietro Sermonti), are eager to solve seemingly impossible crimes and ready for clients who pay well and don’t irritate them excessively. This modern and highly-stylized series is based on the venerable character created by the American writer Rex Stout. In Italian with English subtitles. Repeats same days at 9 p.m.

Why We Support Vegas PBS...

Dr. Tim Hunsaker

Desert Valley Audiology is a strong believer in community. That's why we've always wanted to do more than simply "exist" as a local business.

Although we're a relatively small business with limited marketing funds, we understand and appreciate the importance of quality news and television programming. In our opinion, there are very few community investment opportunities as worthwhile as Vegas PBS.

Since moving to Las Vegas 10 years ago, I've often heard those clichés about how Las Vegas lacks culture and a sense of community. It's not true, and the Las Vegas I know are proud of where they live. We are likewise proud to support Vegas PBS, a truly essential part of our community's foundation.
