MESSAGE FROM OUR PRESIDENT

The Excitement of a New Year

I love lists! Like so many others, I enjoy reflecting on the year that has just come to a close and look forward with anticipation to the months ahead. This is prime list-making time!

We are broadcasters with much to offer "beyond the broadcast." In our mission to inform and engage with our community, we direct our efforts to four core areas of our business: Education, Workforce Training, Technology, and Original Content.

In 2022 we will continue to host educational workshops for children, parents, care providers and teachers; our Special Needs Library will continue to lend hard-to-find resources to teachers, families, and those serving individuals with special needs; and there will be new episodes of Vegas PBS STEAM Camp, our locally produced program that tackles the tricky science, technology, engineering, arts, and math questions that challenge many a parent.

We are expanding our commitment to Workforce Education and I am very proud of a new collaboration with the Clark County School District and the Juvenile Justice System to pilot a program bringing job readiness to incarcerated youth. We are piloting a second program in collaboration with the Nevada Welfare Department to connect dislocated workers and new job seekers to earn industry-recognized credentials that help put them on a path to employment. We will also continue to support a wide variety of career training programs, including OSHA and other compliance certifications. Our Lifelong Learning courses offer a broad selection in areas such as health, wellness and design, and I encourage you consider enrolling at vegaspbs.org/lifelonglearning.

Our technology center will upgrade our Master Control System this year, and we are raising funds to transition our current broadcast equipment to the new ATSC 3.0 protocol. I will share more about this in a future column, but one immediate result will be a broader reach into our service area, particularly into the remote rural communities.

We are committed to local programming and will extend the coverage on Nevada Week with more reporting from the field. As of this writing, I am also cautiously optimistic that we will have the funding to bring Outdoor Nevada back for two more seasons! In addition to those two important programs, we have a number of concepts we are excited to pilot and test.

“Like so many others, I enjoy reflecting on the year that has just come to a close and look forward with anticipation to the months ahead.”

As for broadcast, this month offers something for everyone. Whether you are kicking off the year with a renewed commitment to fitness or are ready to settle in with compelling new dramas, I think you will find that we have you covered. In addition, you'll find programming from acclaimed scholar Henry Louis Gates, Jr., that celebrates our history and diversity around Martin Luther King Jr. Day and programming that honors International Holocaust Remembrance Day.

We have a lot to accomplish in the coming year. I have a lot of lists on my desk and it gives me tremendous energy. I am grateful for the talented and collaborative team at Vegas PBS, and am extremely grateful that my husband and I have found this strong and vibrant community, filled with a positive outlook and welcoming spirit. It is through your sustained investments that we will continue to educate, inspire and uplift our great community. I will keep you updated on these initiatives in this column and, meanwhile, I thank you for your ongoing support.

Many years spent hearing his parishioners' confessions have given him an uncanny insight into the origins of evil and the workings of the criminal mind. Full of humor and compassion but with a big dramatic twist each time, this series remains true to the period charm of the original character and setting while bringing a contemporary edge to the storytelling.

The Joseph Polonski Story
Debuts on International Holocaust
Remembrance Day, Thursday,
January 27 at 7:30 p.m.

This movie chronicles the life of Joseph Polonski from a young child in Silvaki, Poland, to the Jewish Ghetto and ultimately to Treblinka, the most rigorous death camp created under the Nazi regime. Keen intellect and some luck allowed Joseph to escape from Treblinka (one of only two known escapees) after which he served as an officer in the resistance, fighting Nazis until the liberation. After being placed in a DP (displaced persons) camp, Joseph learned electronics in a German ORT School and immigrated to the United States in 1949. With only the shirt on his back and $10 given to him from a distant relative, Joseph built a thriving business and a loving family. This story is a true testament to determination, true grit and the life of Freedom he found in America.

She was the first woman to produce a national TV show, the first woman to star in a sitcom, the first producer to hire a female director and the first woman to receive an Emmy® nomination.

Why We Support Vegas PBS...

Since our founding, we've proudly proclaimed The Meadows School's motto: "In pursuit of excellence." Decades later, we remain firmly committed to this principle and strive for excellence in all areas — in academics, in arts and athletics, in our faculty and staff and even in our partnerships. This is why we support Vegas PBS.

The award-winning educational programming on Vegas PBS offers our parents, students and faculty quality content to expand upon the lessons taught in the classroom in unique and entertaining ways. As a school with students from pre-k through grade twelve, we appreciate the variety of programming Vegas PBS offers that can educate and enthrall our oldest to youngest learners. It is the excellence of this top-tier content that makes Vegas PBS a perfect fit for our community and a worthwhile sponsorship for our non-profit institution.

We look forward to continuing to pursue excellence with Vegas PBS in Nevada.
